SAILING or SAILS

"Oh, my aching back!"

Long, long ago, before any of you were born, on a distant island called Tortuga, there lived a brave and daring group of people known as VIKINGS. These VIKINGS were noted for their ability as seamen and SAILING their GREAT SHIPS.

One day the VIKINGS led by THOR decided to set out on a perilous journey to find a new home on PORT ROYAL. The VIKINGS loaded their GREAT SHIP with supplies and started SAILING toward PORT ROYAL.

For many days and nights, the GREAT SHIPS rolled and pitched through the stormy waters. The great VIKINGS SAILED dangerously close to the reefs. Each time THOR daringly steered his GREAT SHIP and lead his little band of VIKINGS past the danger. Working the SAILS fast and furiously, they managed to keep the GREAT SHIP safe.

Finally, after weeks of SAILING through the stormy seas and past all those treacherous reefs, the daring VIKINGS led by THOR in their GREAT SHIP sighted PORT ROYAL. With great skill, the VIKINGS continued SAILING until they happened onto the shores of PORT ROYAL.

"No more dried fish!" cheered the VIKINGS. "No more SAILING!" cheered THOR. "No more reef the GREAT SHIP had to get by!"

Everyone was happy to be in PORT ROYAL. And that is the story of how THOR and the VIKINGS SAILED their GREAT SHIP through the dangerous reefs to a new home at PORT ROYAL.
